PERSONNEL COMMISSIONERS

ACSA's Educational Institution Service is Now Available to You!

"School Board members have long enjoyed the publications and other benefits associated with ACSA's Educational Services, and now these same benefits are available to Personnel Commissioners."

Toni Hyland, ACSA 2006-07 President and 97-99
Chair, Classified Educational Leaders Committee

"Walk into any merit-system district and you'll see the pictures or names of both school board members and personnel commissions displayed on the wall in the boardroom."

Joseph Jones, Assistant Executive Director
ACSA Member Services

what is acsa?

The merger of eight educational administrator organizations in 1971 created the only multi-level association of educational leaders in varied job-alikes in the world. The Association of California School Administrators (ACSA), with 16,000 certificated and classified management and supervisory members, is larger than most national educational administrator organizations. The publications and professional programs developed by ACSA over the years to serve its members, are also of interest to school board members and Personnel Commissioners, without whose leadership California's public schools could not continue to excel.
